Yesterday's Election.

The regular election held yesterday was one of the quietest ever held in Alexandria. At the different voting places there was virtually nothing to show that an election was in progress. The ballots were cast quietly and no one seemed disposed to loiter about the polls. It was in short an ideal election to all who desire to see things conducted decently and in order. The vote was light. Mr. F. J. Paff was elected Mayor for four years, his term beginning on September 1st, and the Aldermen and Councilmen nominated at the recent democratic primary election had a walk-over, there being no opposition to them. Mr. F. A. Coakley, independent democratic, had entered the race for the Mayoralty. The vote stood as follows:

	Paff	Coakley
First ward.....	150	6
Second ward.....	192	6
Third ward.....	100	0
Fourth ward.....	111	2

Totals..... 553 14

The vote for Aldermen and Councilmen was as follows:

First ward—Aldermen, J. M. Hill, 146; N. P. T. Burke, 149. Councilmen, Hubert Snowden, 150; Thomas L. Rishbell, 143; H. B. Burke, 152; E. S. Leadbeater, 154.

Second ward—Aldermen, W. W. Balenger, 195; F. J. Marbury, 193. Councilmen, Henry Baader, 193; Henry Strauss, 191; J. Y. Williams, 191; Louis Brill, 191.

Third ward—Aldermen, J. R. N. Curtin 101, S. B. Fisher 102. Councilmen, J. T. Harrison 103, T. B. Cochran 103, W. H. Hellmuth 100, James Patterson 101.

They were undoubtedly part of the Vladivostok squadron. Later in the day cannonading was heard northwest of Nagato. Further confirmation, the correspondent says, of the movements of the Russian squadron is given this morning by the captain of a Japanese steamer which was fired on by the fleet.
